

On January 28, 2004, there will be a hearing on localism in broadcasting to be held here in San Antonio, Texas. On behalf of our organization I want to thank the management and employees of San Antonio's local Clear Channel radio and television stations.

We have developed a good working relationship with Clear Channel, and they have displayed a true committment to the area. Through public service announcements, promotion of special events, general awareness efforts, Clear Channel has partnered with us in helping to promote the value of life long learning and the promotion of continued education.

Without the help of Clear Channel, we would not have been able to successfully launch our "Learn A Living" campaign. They continue to provide a value and much needed service to the community.

Sincerely,

Alan D. Miller
Executive Director
Alamo Workforce Development